TENTH WEEK ISSUE, WINTER QUARTER

MARCH 11 - 15, 1991

Trustees Meet

Asian American Ministries To Be Explored

Last week, Fuller’s Trustees met with administrators, faculty, and students for a two-day series of meetings, an event which is scheduled three times an academic year. The Board of Trustees are a group of 38 men and women who are appointed from within the business community, the clergy and lay leadership in the church, the educational system, and include homemakers, and even government leaders. They support the institution with decision- and policy-making leadership which affect the direction and future of the Seminary as well as deal with present needs.

The Trustees are divided into five sub-committees. One such committee is the Ethnic Ministries Committee. Chaired by Trustee, Jesse Miranda, the committee heard reports from ethnic ministries on campus, including an update from SOT Dean, Dr. William Dymness, about the multicultural studies program. A special presentation was coordinated by Sandee Masuda, Chair of the Ethnic Concerns Committee, on the needs of Asian ministries. Following the presentation, a request was made for a mandate from the full Board of Trustees that the Seminary Administration (working with students and community input) develop a proposal for addressing the needs of the Korean and "Americanized Asian Americans" via curriculum, programs, conferences, etc. by March 1992. This proposal was passed by the Board. Sandee Masuda, Ken Fong (Adjunct SOT Professor) and Jesse Miranda will prepare a report with a view to begin exploring an Asian American Studies program at Fuller Theological Seminary which should be presented at the next meetings in June.

Next week, highlights from other sub-committees, such as the Academic Affairs Committee and the Student Affairs Committee will be discussed in the Semi.

The Trustees request the prayers of the students. We are blessed to have a very active and highly involved Board of gifted people who are committed to the effectiveness of preparing Fuller students for tasks in the church. Since this is an especially difficult time with the institution in a phase of leadership transition, trustees especially need our prayers for wisdom and guidance in their task of the development of long range plans.

No More Revisions on Course Schedules!

On April 1, a firm, finalized, not-to-be revised 1991-92 course schedule will be available in the Advising Offices. Say you don’t believe it? Say it is not so? You mean, students can actually plan work schedules in advance? You mean, we can plan on taking next Winter that one last Min 6 course needed to graduate and then actually take it. You mean, all those Meyers-Briggs “J’s” can relax once they plan their entire academic schedule a year in advance? Yes! The Administration has been working to respond to the problems encountered by students because of the quarterly schedule revisions. This year, for the first time, Fuller faculty has made finalized commitments to the schedule for the entire academic year. Grant Milliken, Director of Academic Information Systems, who has been responsible for the curriculum schedule for the past 10 years, is encouraged by the response from faculty to the call to make early scheduling commitments. He believes that this is a strong sign of the faculty’s priority to serve the students.

Combining Faith and Social Action

People often have different ideas about what peace and justice looks like. For example, some people think justice involves hiding refugees in their homes or boycotting grapes and lettuce to protest the exploitation of migrant workers who come to the United States to improve their social, political or economic conditions. For others, justice may involve sending these illegal immigrants back where they came from so that U.S. jobs will be given to U.S. citizens. Where you stand depends on your experience. This quarter, in particular, we have discovered how radically people differed in opinion regarding what to do (or even what was at stake) with the Persian Gulf issue...

This year, there are three offices on campus who think that the issues of peace and justice are an integral part of the Gospel message. The Theology Graduate Union, the Office of Christian Community, and the Peace and Justice Committee are co-sponsoring a visit from Jim Wallis on April 9 and 10. Jim Wallis is a pastor, a preacher, an activist, and the editor of Sojourners magazine. Sojourners is a community and a magazine that has become a movement that connects a broad network of religious groups interested in combining faith and social action in their daily lives. Wallis has authored several books which include Agenda for Biblical People, Waging Peace: A Handbook in the Struggle to Abolish Nuclear Weapons, The Rise of the Christian Conscience.

This visit is open to the entire student body—wherever you stand on the issues of peace and justice. Look for more details in the next few weeks in the SEMI or on the TGU board. Please come.

Now you can afford to dream in color.

Apple introduces the Macintosh LC.

If you thought that finding a color Macintosh system you could afford was just a dream, then the new, affordable Macintosh LC is a dream come true.

The Macintosh LC is rich in color. Unlike many computers that can display only 16 colors at once, the Macintosh LC expands your palette to 256 colors. It also comes with a microphone and new sound input technology, that lets you personalize your work by adding voice or other sounds. Like every Macintosh computer, the LC is easy to set up and easy to master. And it runs thousands of available applications that all work in the same, consistent way—so once you've learned one program, you're well on your way to learning them all. The Macintosh LC even lets you share information with someone who uses a different type of computer—thanks to the versatile Apple SuperDrive, which can read from and write to Macintosh, MS DOS, OS 2, and Apple II floppy disks.

Take a look at the Macintosh LC and see what it gives you. Then pinch yourself. It's better than a dream—it's a Macintosh.
