MISCELLANEOUS

-A few student apartments are still vacant and available for immediate rental. Students and Fuller staff who do not meet the standard eligibility requirement (enrollment in a degree program and progression at a rate of at least 24 units per academic year) may still sign limited rental agreements. We anticipate that all remaining vacancies will be filled by incoming students willing to begin paying rent in December or as the winter quarter begins.

-Theology Graduate Union Election: Election for TGU officers for the term beginning in January will be held in the Garth from 10:30 a.m. - 1 p.m. next Tues., Wed., Thurs. Any student admitted to and currently enrolled in the School of Theology is eligible to vote. (This does not include Extension, D.Min. or students from the School of Psychology seeking an M.A. in Theology - TGU Constitution) Make every effort to vote during these times. If you cannot vote during this time, request an absentee ballot from Kevin Livingston, Box 866.

Fashions at a Fair Price For You! - originally scheduled for Saturday, November 14, has been cancelled.

-Who is eligible to become Fuller Food Co-op members? All students, faculty and staff. Open Mondays and Tuesdays, 3:30-6:30 p.m. in the back of the Catalyst.

-Judy Bannister-Headley and Carolyn Fritsch, managing editor of Ronald Haynes Publishers - Palm Springs, will be here Nov. 17 from 2:30-3:30 p.m. at a table in the Garth. They will be available for students interested in publishing or to discuss ideas.

-Free individual psychotherapy - All students interested in 20 sessions of individual psychotherapy (no charge) should contact Karen, x. 3304, in the School of Psychology. The therapy is provided by clinical psychology students in Clinical Foundations.

-PhDology Students: Call for Papers. The annual meeting of the western region of the American Academy of Religion will be held in conjunction with the Society for Biblical Literature at Stanford, March 25-27. See posted notices on the professional concerns board or contact Hendrika Vande Kemp.

-Don't miss the 30-35% discount sale on Zondervan reference works. The deadline for ordering books on this special is Nov. 30. If you didn't receive a notice in your mailbox, stop by the Bookstore for details regarding the sale.

-Overstock textbooks will be returned to the publishers beginning the 8th week of the quarter. If there is a textbook that you still need, now is the time to buy it.

-Modern Hebrew: Anyone interested in learning modern Hebrew with an Israeli tutor should contact Dawn Waring (Box 190, 793-7340) or Moshe (786-7293). We will meet in the refectory on Tuesday evening, Nov. 17, from 7-9 p.m.

BEYOND CHITCHAT -
BUILDING QUALITY FRIENDSHIPS

A FORUM SPONSORED BY THE OFFICE OF CHRISTIAN COMMUNITY

* ARE YOU A NEW STUDENT SEEKING TO DEVELOP STRONG FRIENDSHIP BONDS AT FULLER?

* ARE YOU A RETURNING STUDENT WHO FEELS THE TENSION OF SETTING PRIORITIES BETWEEN WORK & RELATIONSHIPS?

* ARE YOU A FULLER SPOUSE WHO FEELS LIKE YOU’RE ON THE PERIPHERY?

* DO YOU PUT OFF PEOPLE FOR ANOTHER DAY?

Community-building is a lifetime investment both in our personal lives and for our ministry. The relationships we build at Fuller enhance our spiritual growth and social adjustment. Often these friendships become our lifetime career peers and closest colleagues in Christ. The relational patterns we develop now can have an important impact on how we later establish relational patterns in our ministry.

We often think of seminary as an "in-between" place--a preparation for life and ministry. However, it is here that our ministry begins. What are you doing now? How can you rearrange your priorities? How do you build people into your life and ministry?

Please join us for an evening of special presentations, discussion and refreshment:

NEW ARRIVALS AT THE BOOKSTORE include:

Theology

John A. Hardon, The Question and Answer Catholic Catechism (Doubleday)—1700 questions and answers offering easy access to the issues of the Catholic faith.

Comparative Religion and Missions

Ninian Smart, Beyond Ideology: Religion and the Future of Western Civilization (Harper & Row)—in the 1972-80 Gifford Lectures, Smart argues that to be relevant and significant today, the study of religions must become the study of the dominant worldviews—political and religious—that shape the destinies of societies and individuals.

Issues

Jonas Salk and Jonathan Salk, World Population and Human Values: A New Reality (Harper & Row)—an accessible and useful explanation of current and long-term problems of population growth which is necessary for developing strategies for survival and evolution.

Women

Sonia Johnson, From Housewife to Heretic (Doubleday)—the story of the woman who, because of her support of the ERA, was excommunicated from the Mormon church.

Marriage & Family

Jay Belsky (ed.), In the Beginning: Readings on Infancy (Columbia University)—a collection of theoretical essays, empirical studies, and critical reviews of research on infancy which illustrates the explosion in understanding that has occurred in the past decade.

Yvonne Garrett, The Newlywed Handbook (Word)—drawing on her experience in teaching a popular Sunday School class for newlyweds, the author explores the many unexpected challenges of the first year of marriage.

Psychology & Counseling

Gary Collins, Calm Down (Christian Herald)—how to deal with competition, success, crisis, making decisions, hostility, criticism, family tension, and burn-out.
