

2018

COLLECTION 0022: Myrtle M. Clemmer Collection of Emily Chubbuck Judson Papers, 1844-1962

Fuller Seminary Archives and Special Collections

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.fuller.edu/findingaids>

 Part of the Christian Denominations and Sects Commons, and the Missions and World Christianity Commons

---

Recommended Citation

Fuller Seminary Archives and Special Collections, "COLLECTION 0022: Myrtle M. Clemmer Collection of Emily Chubbuck Judson Papers, 1844-1962" (2018). List of Archival Collections. 62.
<https://digitalcommons.fuller.edu/findingaids/62>

This Finding Aid is brought to you for free and open access by the Archives and Special Collections at Digital Commons @ Fuller. It has been accepted for inclusion in List of Archival Collections by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Fuller. For more information, please contact archives@fuller.edu.

COLLECTION 22: Myrtle M. Clemmer Collection of Emily
Chubbuck Judson Papers, 1844-1962

Administrative Information

Title:

Myrtle M. Clemmer Collection of Emily Chubbuck Judson Papers, 1844-1962

Collection Identifier:

CFT00022

Creators:

Clemmer, Myrtle M.
Judson, Emily C. (Emily Chubbuck) (1817-1854)

Size:

5 Boxes, 3 linear feet

Repository:

David Allan Hubbard Library
Fuller Theological Seminary
135 N Oakland Ave
Pasadena, CA 91182
archives@fuller.edu

Provenance:

Unknown

Conditions Governing Access/Restrictions:

Scholarly use with parameters of copyright law

Language:

English

Processing:

Nancy Sanders Gower

Finding Aid Revisions:

Andrew Wong, June 2018

Biography

Emily Chubbuck was born in 1817, in Eaton, New York, into a family whose financial needs contributed to her early development as a capable working woman. During the summers she worked in the woolen mill near her home and by the time she was 15, was teaching at the Utica Female Seminary. She earned her livelihood by teaching school for 13 years before her marriage, but her own development as an author was her hobby and her real passion. Even as a girl she contributed to church publications and under the penname Fanny Forester published 4 books in the series "Valuable Religious Books for the Fireside and Sabbath School." She was well known for her lively articles written for the New York Mirror and a collection of them was published in 1845 under the title Trippings in Author Land, followed by a second collection in 1846, Alderbrook. Although the newspaper did not pay her for these sentimental tales of village life, she won a large following, and the second collection went through eleven editions.

Her initial meeting with Adoniram Judson, who had read excerpts from Trippings, was for the purpose of discussing the preparation of the memoir of his late wife Sarah B. Judson. When they married and sailed for Burma, Emily took up this task and produced the biography, Memoir of Sarah B. Judson: of the American mission to Burmah (1852), using her old penname Fanny Forester.

After her return from Burma, saddened by her husband's death and very ill herself, she still continued to earn her living by writing. In 1852 she gathered the poems she had written throughout her life into a book entitled An Olio of Domestic Verses. In 1853 she contributed a story to the collection Thought Blossoms, and gathered a collection of missionary stories, essays and poems published under the title The Kathayan Slave. In the last year of her life she wrote a memoir, My Two Sisters: a sketch from memory and during these years also contributed to a small publication of the Missionary Union, the Macedonian. In 1854 she succumbed to tuberculosis.

Scope and Content

The collection begins with clippings, notes and letters documenting the purpose behind Myrtle Clemmer's collection of materials on Emily Chubbuck Judson: the writing of her literary biography for the series "United States Authors." The material collected includes clippings, notes from books and archives, letters to archivists and librarians, transcribed letters of both Emily and Adoniram, photocopies of Emily's writings, notes, clippings and photocopies for background and context, notes for further research or resource ideas and the manuscript of the biographical work in progress.

Myrtle Clemmer wrote on missions topics for the Presbyterian Church USA. The materials in this collection were gathered by her for the purpose of writing a more complete biography of Emily Chubbuck Judson for the series United States Authors: a biography which would highlight her development as a writer and the cultural, literary and educational climate of her era. Emily was the third wife of Adoniram Judson, first American missionary to Burma. The focus of this collection of papers is not on her marriage or missionary activity but rather on her literary development and success.

Subjects:

Clemmer, Myrtle M.
Judson, Adoniram, 1788-1850
Judson, Emily C. (Emily Chubbuck), 1817-1854
Missionaries
Missionary stories -- Juvenile literature

Arrangement

The collection is currently organized into 5 boxes, consisting of 6 series as follows:

Series 1: Myrtle M. Clemmer (Box 1)

Series 2: Background on Emily Chubbuck (Box 2)

Series 3: Emily Chubbuck Judson Biographical Info (Box 2)

Series 4: Adoniram Judson Biographical Info (Box 3)

Series 5: Correspondence of Emily Chubbuck (Box 4)

Series 6: Writings of Emily C. Judson (Box 5).

Series Descriptions

Series 1: Myrtle M. Clemmer (Box 1)

This series documents Miss Clemmer's background and her own work as an author and archivist for the Presbyterian Church USA as well as her research for the Emily Judson biography. It includes her correspondence with publishers and editors, archivists, friends and other contacts related to gathering information on Emily Chubbuck Judson as well as notes on genre (the literary biography), method, bibliography and resources for the Emily Judson biography. It also contains some personal correspondence and biographical information.

Series 2: Background preparation for biographical work on Emily Chubbuck Judson (Box 2)

This series contains the gathered background material for the proposed biography which was intended not only as a biography but as a reflection on the religious and educational climate of Emily Chubbuck Judson's era. It includes notes, clippings and lists of possible sources both archival and bibliographical, for gathering information.

Series 3: Biographical information on Emily Chubbuck Judson (Box 2)

This is a collection of photocopies and notes on the life of Emily from birth through her marriage to Adoniram Judson.

Series 4: Biographical materials on Adoniram Judson (Box 3)

Biographical materials on Adoniram Judson, his missionary activities, first wives, courtship of Emily Chubbuck, and death as well as material regarding his children and their families.

Series 5: Correspondence of Emily Chubbuck (Box 4)

This series is a collection of transcriptions of Emily Chubbuck's correspondence from 224 through 1851, including letters using her penname Fanny Forester.

Series 6: Writings of Emily Chubbuck (Box 5)

This series includes lists of her writings as well as copies of many of her poems and articles and two of her books: Records of Alderbrook or Fanny Forester's Village Sketches, 1854; and An Olio of Domestic Verses, 1852.

Periodicals in the collection:

Sunshine Magazine, June, 1962 (Litchfield)

Missions 160.3, Mar, 1962 (American Baptist International Magazine)

Andover Newton Quarterly Jan, 1962

BOX INVENTORY

Box #	Contents
1	Series I: Myrtle M. Clemmer
2	Series II: Background on Emily Chubbuck, Series III: Emily Chubbuck Judson Biographical Info
3	Series IV: Adoniram Judson Biographical Info
4	Series V: Correspondence of Emily Chubbuck
5	Series VI: Writings of Emily C. Judson