Fuller Theological Seminary
Seek God's Face

by Dr. Siang-Yang Tan, Associate Professor of Psychology and Chair of the Spiritual Life Committee

The theme of this year's National Day of Prayer on Thursday, May 4, 1995, is Seek God's Face. It is based on Jeremiah 29:12-13: "Then you will call upon Me and come and pray to Me, and I will listen to you. You will seek Me and find Me when you seek Me with all your heart." It is a clarion and urgent call for all of us to seek God's face with all our hearts, in deeper intimacy with Him through prayer. As we pray and seek God’s face, we also need to humble ourselves and turn from our wicked ways in true repentance, so that He will hear from heaven, and forgive our sin and heal our land (2 Chronicles 7:14).

Dr. Bill Bright, founder and president of Campus Crusade for Christ International, has just written a challenging book entitled, The Coming Revival about America’s call to fast, pray, and “seek God’s face.” He shares the following conviction he received from the Lord recently:

“America and much of the world will, before the end of the year 2000, experience a great spiritual awakening. This divine visit of the Holy Spirit from heaven will kindle the greatest spiritual harvest in the history of the Church. But before God comes in revival power, the Holy Spirit will call millions of God’s people to repent, fast, and pray in the spirit of 2 Chronicles 7:14......The scope of this revival depends on how believers in America and the rest of the world respond to this call....The Holy Spirit gave me this assurance during a forty-day fast. I have spent fifty years studying God's Word and listening to His voice, and His message could not have been more clear.”

We hear God’s loving invitation to deeper intimacy with Him through prayer and fasting, to passionately seek His face, but we often falter and fail in our response to His call. Richard Foster encourages us to come home, to find our heart’s true home in prayer and seeking God’s face. In his excellent book, Prayer: Finding the Heart’s True Home, he writes:

“God has graciously allowed me to catch a glimpse into His heart, and I want to share with you what I have seen. Today the heart of God is an open wound of love. He aches over our distance and preoccupation. He worries that we do not draw near to Him. He grieves that we have forgotten Him. He weeps over our obsession with muchness and manyness. He longs for our presence.....And He is inviting you—and me—to come home, to come home to where we belong, to come home to that for which we were created. His arms are stretched out wide to receive us. His heart is enlarged to take us in......For too long we have been in a far country: a country of noise and hurry and crowds, a country of climb and push and shove, a country of frustration and fear and intimidation....He welcomes us home: home to serenity and peace and joy, home to friendship and fellowship and openness, home to intimacy and

by Dr. Douglas H. Gregg, Director of the Office of Christian Community

It happens when we worship.
God speaks! God acts!

In 2 Chronicles 20 (c. 860 BC), Israel is threatened on all sides by enemy nations. King Jehoshaphat calls the people to fast and pray and "from all the cities of Judah they came to seek help from the Lord" (v 4). As Jehoshaphat prays before God, and for the people, he makes humble acknowledgment: "We are powerless against this great multitude that is coming against us. We do not know what to do, but our eyes are upon thee" (v. 12). As they are waiting before the Lord, the Spirit comes upon the prophet Jahaziel and he speaks forth a message of promised deliverance: They are not to be afraid because this battle belongs to the Lord! God will fight for them; they are to stand still and see the victory of the Lord on their behalf (vv 15-17). They all fall down and worship the Lord; the Levites stand up and praise the God of Israel with a loud voice! Application for us: When we worship, God speaks!

We are being called into times of fervent prayer, fasting, and national repentance. For example, Bill Bright, Director of Campus Crusade for Christ, believes that in the next five years the Holy Spirit will call millions of people to prayer, fasting, and repentance in preparation for spiritual awakening in America and around the world that will bring "the greatest spiritual harvesting the

by Dr. J. Robert Clinton, Professor of Leadership

The word fast (fasting, fasted, fasts), used in the sense of abstention for religious purposes, occurs almost 60 times in the Bible. It occurs in both Old and New Testaments. Questions come to mind: Who fasted? For what purposes? Should we fast? Why? How?

Who fasted? and for what purposes? In the Old Testament all Israel fasted on numerous occasions, including special occasions at Bethel and Mizpah during the times of the Judges and Samuel’s ministry. When Saul and Jonathan were killed in battle, the valiant men of the army mourned and fasted. David fasted when his child by Bathsheba was sick. The Psalmist (Ps 109:24) had an extended fast asking for God’s deliverance in response to accusers who were slandering his character. Jehoshaphat, seeking guidance from the Lord, fasted. The Ninevites, reacting to Jonah’s preaching, fasted as a sign of repentance. Joel admonished the people to fast as a sign of turning back to the Lord. Isaiah warned against hypocritical fasting. Jeremiah and Daniel fasted regularly as a spiritual discipline. Ezra, desiring deep repentance and renewal among the returnees to the land, held a fast which Nehemiah and all the people joined in. Esther, Mordecai, and the dispersed Jews all fasted in a crisis time. Zechariah showed that fasting was regular on-going practice. Jesus, led up by the Spirit, practiced an extended fast as he initiated his ministry. John’s disciples and the Pharisees fasted as a regular religious practice. It was as the leadership team at Antioch fasted that the Spirit directed that Paul and Barnabas be sent out to proclaim the Gospel to Gentiles. It is clear that fasting was a regular practice in both Old and New Testaments. Leaders and followers fasted.

Should we fast? Why? While fasting occurs in both Old and New Testaments, it is never commanded or demanded of God’s followers. And yet, though never commanded, it is assumed to be a regular practice of those who follow hard after God. We are free to fast. We are also free not to fast. However, please take note: Leaders in all leadership eras often voluntarily rose to the challenge to fast in hopes of God’s touch in their lives.

Why did they fast? My Bible study on fasting uncovered at least five reasons for God’s people to fast:

1. They did so as a sign of genuine repentance in response to God’s work;

Recently, we have heard exciting and heart-stirring news about God pouring out the Holy Spirit on college campuses across the United States. Spiritual revival is sweeping from Texas to Illinois, bringing with it movements of repentance, extended periods of prayer, conversions, and deeper commitments to Christ. From Criswell College in Dallas, Texas, to Murray State University in Kentucky, and on up into multiple campuses in Illinois, students are coming forward during lengthy services to repent of pride, lust, bondage to materialism, bitterness, and racism.

An April issue of the National and International Religion Report included the following news: "At Wheaton College, a March 19 service at Pierce Chapel lasted from 7:30 pm to 6:00 am as students formed lines at the microphone to confess sins. After each person spoke, friends gathered to embrace the person and pray for him or her......Students filled five garbage bags with bottles of alcohol, pornography, and secular music. Days later, lengthy services continued, involving half the school’s 2,200 students. At Criswell College, 150 students prayed and repented for four hours after hearing the testimony of Howard Payne students. Similar events occurred at Houston Baptist University and Louisiana Tech University in Ruston, La."

In light of such news, on Friday, May 5, beginning at 7:00 pm, there will be a life night prayer and praise meeting with a worship band on the Fuller campus in Travis Auditorium. Several guest speakers throughout the night will give introductions to special subjects all related to prayer. After each introduction there will be time for personal, corporate or concert prayer. All denominational and prayer groups on campus have been notified of and invited to this event. This is an opportunity for the whole body of Christ represented at Fuller to join in prayer before God. We look forward to seeing you there. If you can’t make it, pray for the night. The night will be hosted by the Post-Denominational Network, Kay Kramer, Mike Spence and Beate Eulenhoefer.

Historic Opportunity for Fuller Students

During the All Seminary Council elections in week eight, Fuller students will have the opportunity for the first time to vote on an ASC-recommended constitution and bylaws. The following thoughts place this event in historic perspective.

Every organization benefits from having a constitution and bylaws to guide its operation and instruct its members. The All Seminary Council is no exception. Since the inception of student government in the 1950’s, there have been several written documents that have served as a constitution and bylaws. In 1989, Rick Fraser (ASC president, 1988), gathered a number of these documents together to update and clarify the purposes of the Associated Students of Fuller Theological Seminary. Further development was attempted by succeeding presidents Roberto Colon and Norman Gordon. Then in 1993, Lee Merritt, Vice President for Finance, approached the ASC and offered the resources of his office to assist in producing a constitution and bylaws that would be made available for the students to ratify and trustees to approve the following academic year. Hence the student Council in fall last year formed a Constitution Task Force: Amy Arnold, Kent Fromer, Chris Habben and Rob Gallagher with Fuller’s in-house legal advisor Rita Rowland. Six months later they produced the proposed constitution and bylaws which were unanimously endorsed by the Council. The recommended constitution and bylaws are at present on display in the ASC office, McAlister library and on the ASC notice board.

Our sincere thanks to Lee Merritt, Rita Rowland and Tammi Anderson who have made this historic opportunity a living reality. Without their expertise and patience we could not have achieved this goal. If you have any comments or questions concerning the recommended ASC constitution and bylaws, then please speak with a member of the Task Force and/or come to the public forum at 12:15-1:00 pm in Payton 101A on Thursday, May 11. I look forward to seeing you there.

Warm regards in Christ,
Rob Gallagher.

As a kid, I loved playing hide and seek. Didn’t we all? The game seems universal and almost instinctual.

When you were a child, which did you love more—the hiding or the seeking? As I remember it, the seeking was both exciting and a bit scary. I wasn’t sure when I would turn a corner and someone would pop out and be found. I think for me, hiding felt much more secure. It was exhilarating to scout new holes in which to hide and lie quietly waiting—watching and waiting!

Psalm 139 speaks to our spiritual game of hide and seek. God is the Seeker. I am the one elusively, even desperately, hiding. I hide from God behind responsibilities—especially ministry responsibilities. I try to get lost underneath the mound of urgent school work, mail, and bills. Yet time and time again, the truth of God’s love as the Seeker penetrates my hardened and weary soul:

Where can I go from your Spirit? Where can I flee from your presence? If I go up to the heavens, you are there; if I make my bed in the depths, you are there. If I rise on the wings of the dawn, if I settle on the far side of the sea, even there your hand will guide me, your right hand will hold me fast.

Psalm 139:7-10

God seeks me. God seeks the one sheep that has wandered off. God searches for the lost coin. God welcomes the prodigal child. It is when this love melts my heart that I am compelled, repentant and longing, to Seek God’s Face.

The pulsing beat of timpani and somber Latin lyrics gave way to spring-like tones of flute and soprano voices as John Rutter's intricate Requiem began in the Rim of the World auditorium.

It was Saturday evening, April 8, and Fuller's Chapel Choir and the Rim Festival Chorus were presenting the Requiem at the Rim of the World Performing Arts Center at Lake Arrowhead. The performance also included the west coast premier of Paul Liljestrand's Psalmfest, six psalms set to music for chorus and organ. Conducting the concert was Dr. Janet Harms, FTS organist and Director of both choral groups.

Musicians and audience were moved by the changing tones of the Requiem as it portrayed man's futility, the despair of death, the dawning of the believer's hope, and eternal triumph. Dr. Harms praised the superb instrumentation of Rutter's work, which combines voices with flute, oboe, timpani, glockenspiel, harp, cello and organ.

Chapel choir accompanist James Chun (MDiv) was organist for the concert, which opened with Vaughan William's "The Call." The final number was John Leavitt's "How Lovely Is Your Dwelling Place," with organ solo by Chun. Soprano Jamie Parker Frank (MDiv) of FTS Chapel Choir sang the lovely and climactic "Lux Aeterna" (Eternal Light) solo in the Requiem.

The Fuller community heard four sections of the Requiem at the April 12 Arts Festival Chapel, when Rim Festival Chorus members sang with the Chapel Choir.

The Chapel Choir is looking for more voices to join in musical experiences such as the Rim of the World concert. Choir members receive modest scholarships.

Dr. Harms, a concert organist, holds degrees from Julliard School of Music, the American Conservatory in Chicago, and Columbia University in New York. She is organist at Fuller, Arcadia Presbyterian Church, and the University of Redlands where she is also Professor of Music.

history of the Church."
We are certainly in deep need of spiritual awakening—of the cleansing, renewing, releasing power of God that flows from genuine repentance. But can we work up genuine repentance? Can anyone of us simply decide to engage in "godly sorrow?" Genuine repentance is itself a work of the Holy Spirit; it is something that flows to us by the mercy of God. A repentance that is planned, or contrived, or forced, rarely gets below the surface. We need a cleansing from repentance that goes to the root of our roots. Such heartfelt repentance happens when we are face to face with the living God, aware of who we are and what we have done and have not done in the light of his reflected glory, his perfect love. Such repentance can happen when we worship—God speaks, God acts.

In worship we declare our utter dependence on God; we acknowledge that "we are powerless against the forces coming against us;" we do not know what to do, but our eyes are upon God. All our frail attempts to "do it my way" disappear before the face of the living God. Archbishop Temple said, "The world is going to be saved through worship.

The renewal of the church's ministry will flow out of the renewal of worship. On May 4, the National Day of Prayer, let us come together from all our "cities"—our classes, schools, living places—to seek God's face in worship and prayer, "to seek help from the Lord," that we too might hear him speak to us as we wait upon him, and see Him act on our behalf as we humble ourselves before Him.

It happens when we worship. God speaks! God acts!

acceptance and affirmation.....The key to this home, this heart of God, is prayer."

At Fuller, we will be holding our own all-Seminary spring Day of Prayer on the National Day of Prayer, Thursday, May 4, 1995, between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. We will be having a worship service and prayer time from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. at the Travis Auditorium. A simple lunch of soup and bread will be served at 12:10 p.m. at the Mall. We will end with a closing prayer and benediction before 1 p.m. We also encourage everyone who is able to join together as a community in a fast from Wednesday evening, May 3, to noon on Thursday, May 4. The fast will be broken by the serving of the simple meal mentioned. Let us all make this Day of Prayer on May 4 a priority in our schedules. May we all experience the Lord's presence, guidance, and healing as we seek His Face together in prayer! And may the Holy Spirit empower us as the people of God to become people of prayer so that our Fuller community can experience deeply God's renewal and revival!

Fasting, Leadership and Renewal

2. They did so to gain God's favor on some urgent matter of concern;
3. They longed for God's deliverance in crisis;
4. They wanted to bring about renewal both individual and corporate;
5. They needed to get answers from God clarifying future things.

As we consider spending time as a Fuller community before God, no doubt several of the reasons listed above, especially reasons 1 and 4, apply to our situation. Throughout both testaments it is clear that leaders concerned with God's renewing work in the midst of His people fasted as a spiritual discipline in expectation of God's renewing work. Can we do any less here at Fuller in a time when God is moving among us in renewing ways?
