Interesting Internship
Why not pray about the possibility of doing your internship in Mexico?? ITIPS (Intercultural Theological Institute for Pastoral Studies in Mexico) offers a three to 12 month course of study in contextual and experiential theology for seminary students preparing for church ministries. Through a combination of formal and non-formal educational experiences, students are prepared for ministry in a shrinking world where the gap between rich and poor grows daily. Designed to complement regular seminary studies and to obtain credit therein, ITIPS offers the opportunity to reflect theologically from outside one's own cultural setting, specifically from the culture of poverty in the third world. For more information, talk to Paul Pierson, School of World Mission, 584-5264.

Therapy Opportunities

Smith will conduct one more class, conveniently held, at NOON on Tuesday Nov. 24 at Heritage House, 447 North El Molino, Pasadena. The cost is $10.00 per session. Families and Stress
Many times we feel stress is something we experience at work, on the freeway, at school, etc., and seldom consider the possible stresses we experience at home or with our families. Much of our stress is due to random events, but there are certain stages in our family's development that will be more stressful than others. We can plan and prepare for those stages and have a good idea what the stress-related events might be.

In this first of a series of OCC-sponsored brown bag lunches, Kent Kinzley will define stress in terms of its component parts, help you evaluate the amount of stress and types of stress-related events in your life, demonstrate the body's response to stress events and discuss three approaches to coping with stress. Kent is a staff therapist at La Vie Christina Whole-Person Care Center in Pasadena and is an MFCC Intern with a specialty in Stress Management and Biofeedback Therapy. He is also a licensed and ordained minister who has been serving as a pastor for the last six years. And, yes, Kent does have a family: a wife and three children ages 7-15 years old.

Bring your lunch and listen to Kent from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on Thursday, Dec. 3 in Payton 101. Refreshments will be provided. Feel free to bring your lunch tray over from the Refectory as well.
