Biography

Charles E. Fuller, pioneer of evangelism by radio, was born in 1887, the fourth son of a furniture merchant who later became the prosperous Southern California fruit grower, Henry Fuller. After graduating from Pomona College, Charles married Grace Payton in 1910 and the two began life together as orange growers in Redlands, California. In 1913 Charles went into the fruit-packing business in Placentia.

Shortly before their marriage Grace had been led to the Lord by her friend, Leonora Barnhill, with whom she maintained a lifelong friendship and correspondence. Grace began to pray that her husband Charles would be converted to Christianity. In 1917 Charles went to the Church of the Open Door to hear ex-boxer Paul Rader preach on Eph 1:18 and began his journey of faith. By 1918 Charles and Grace were traveling as itinerant preachers in the western U.S. They shared a burden to reach people in remote areas seldom visited by other evangelists. This ministry became the focus of Charles' life and fruit-packing could no longer hold his attention. "My burden became so heavy that I walked through the busy packing plant to a storage room in back and knelt down in the sawdust to pray." Questions of supporting his wife and paying for Bible school held him suspended for a time between fruit-packing and preaching, but in time he entrusted their future to the Lord and stepped out in faith, enrolling in 1919 at the Bible Institute of Los Angeles, in order to become the evangelist God was calling him to be.

As a graduate of the Bible Institute of Los Angeles Charles launched a Bible class which became Calvary Church of Placentia, California, and from there began his radio ministry in 1929, broadcasting first from the Church over KREG, Santa Ana. This program evolved into the Radio Bible Class and Pilgrims' Hour broadcast over KGER, from Long Beach, California and then in 1934 became the "Old Fashioned Revival Hour;" its single aim the dissemination of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. Charles Fuller was one of the first to recognize radio as a God-given instrument to reach people with the gospel right in their own homes. The broadcast spread to other stations and by 1941 was heard every Sunday across the North America as well as in Europe, Africa and Asia.

During the 1940's he also directed a large contingent of itinerant evangelists through the sponsorship of the Fuller Evangelistic Foundation, of which he was President. Also through this foundation a Bible College of Missions and Evangelism which would become Fuller Theological Seminary was established, opening in the Fall of 1947 to an inaugural class of 33 young men with a call to preach the Gospel.

For 15 years, beginning during World War II, the "Old Fashioned Revival Hour" was broadcast each Sunday afternoon from the Municipal Auditorium in Long Beach, California where it drew hug audiences. In that enormous hall many a GI found the Lord before being shipped to Pacific and European theatres of war.

Charles Fuller also traveled throughout North America, holding city-wide evangelistic rallies, preaching in the largest auditoriums available, such as Carnegie Hall and Madison Square Garden, to sell-out crowds. The beautiful music of the "Old Fashioned Revival Hour" contributed to its success. Letters from listeners poured in to the offices of the Gospel Broadcasting Association in Pasadena, California, and many were read over the air by Grace, known to listeners worldwide as "honey". She also edited their newsletter, Heart to Heart Talk, sent out to all interested listeners. The broadcast was awarded the "Gold Microphone" by the American Broadcasting Company and the "Award of Merit" by the National Religious Broadcasters in 1960.

The Seminary founded by Charles Fuller, named for his father Henry Fuller, and initially financed by Henry's gift for the propagation of the Gospel, has become the largest interdenominational Evangelical Seminary in the world. In celebration of its 50th year, Fuller Theological Seminary began to re-broadcast tapes of the "Old Fashioned Revival Hour" and to send out Heart to Heart to its many listeners. The legacy of Charles E. Fuller can never be counted; through his weekly messages, newsletters and the seminary he founded he has reached millions with the Gospel which he himself and his wife Grace found so compelling and life-changing in their youth.

Scope and Content

The Charles E. and Grace Payton Fuller Collection, 1892-2009 documents the life and ministry of Charles E. Fuller (1887-1969) and Grace Payton Fuller (1886-1966). The collection deals primarily with their radio ministries, the Pilgrims' Hour and the Old-Fashioned Revival Hour (OFRH), and the founding of Fuller Theological Seminary. Material includes program notes and sound recordings spanning over forty years, letters sent by radio listeners, and the Heart to Heart newsletter sent out to OFRH listeners. The papers of Grace Payton Fuller, which chronicle her life before her marriage to Fuller and the vital role she played in their radio ministry, are also housed in the collection.

- Old Fashioned Revival Hour (Radio program)

Cataloger's Notes:

As of March 2017, boxes 100 and 101 are no longer listed in the finding aid because these boxes were not used in the processing of the original collection. Box 78, folders 49-50 were also added to the finding aid. Their original location within the collection is unknown.

In March 2017 it was discovered that the listed contents of box 80 are missing, with the exception of a "Binder of Music Composition Scores" by the Old Fashioned Revival Hour and the Alber Company (listed with boxes 97-106: Ephemera).

In July 2018 a preservation assessment of the Charles E. Fuller collection revealed the misfiling of collection materials. Several boxes were not filled properly and had excess space without the use of spacers. In August 2018, the collection was re-filed to the correct arrangement as needed, and materials re-distributed to match sustainable preservation conditions. In the process, boxes 56-61 and 68 became empty due to the re-distributing. No files were lost. The finding aid was updated to reflect the changes.

SERIES IV: Biographical Documents, Interviews and Drafts

Subseries 1: The Diaries of Cutler B. Whitwell – Box 69, 70

Beginning on December 31, 1927, these diaries record the lives of Cutler Whitwell (1882-1968) and his wife Florence Nye Whitwell through June 8, 1968. Mr. Whitwell was an executive with the Standard Oil Company of California until he felt led to resign that post and go out by faith to preach the Gospel. During the late 1920s he was dean of men at Biola, and his wife Florence taught Bible lessons for children each morning over radio KTBI. In 1927 she published a novel entitled Cynthia Stands Fast which was popular with Biola students. It was during this time that the Whitwells became close friends of the Charles E. Fuller family. From beginning to end the diaries are full of news of Charles and Grace and regular trips to Long Beach auditorium.

They are also full of commentary on the evangelical scene during these years. January 1928 entries speak with warmth of Gipsy Smith's messages and with admiration of M.G. Kyle's lectures on archaeological findings. In 1935 the Whitwells conducted evangelistic meetings from Escondido to San Francisco. In 1941 they went as representatives of the "Old Fashioned Revival Hour," into the north eastern US to hold evangelistic services, often opening up churches long since closed and boarded up. It was during this preaching trip that they met the Fullers for lunch; the October 13 entry reports that they sang Heavenly Sunlight's chorus to them. In Charles' memory it would later become "Heavenly Sunshine," the theme song of the Old Fashioned Revival Hour. The January 14 entry reports the death of their friend Charles Trumbull, popular 'Keswick' preacher.

The 1948 and 1949 diaries are full of news of Charles and Grace and their fledgling Seminary. In the '50's diaries many entries refer to fine messages by Harold Ockenga, Wilbur Smith, Carl Henry, Billy Graham, J. Vernon McGee, Charles Woodbridge and of course Charles Fuller.

Subseries 2: Documents gathered by Dan Fuller and others for biographies of the Fullers (Boxes 71-73)

This series gathers documents, interviews and drafts written by Dan Fuller and others for biographies of the Fullers, as well as correspondence related to the task. It covers all periods of the Fullers' lives and should be cross-checked with Series I-III, photos albums, ephemera, recordings and correspondence files.
